Republicans Get Charter

The CBC Young Republicans received first charter at the Lima Convention held March 1 and 6th. They are now eligible to send delegates to all other conventions. Six members of the CBC club attended. They were not allowed to vote but could attend all committee meetings. Ray Walcott of Pasco was elected first vice-president of the convention. D. E. "Buz" Lukens gave a speech at the Friday night banquet encouraging all Young Republicans to work for better organization and larger membership. He reminded the audience that the present is certainly the best time to work on the elections of '66 and '68 because elections are won on a local basis. The convention also decided to hold a special Constitutional Convention will be held within a year to finish the constitution and the by-laws which were not completed at this convention. Resolutions were adopted against Medicare, and foreign aid to Communist nations; for Dirksen's redistricting amendment, and President Johnson's air strikes against North Vietnam.

Committee Arranges Scholarships

A new committee is meeting to set up grants and scholarships for the fall quarter, according to Venetta Stappler, committee chairman. Mrs. Stappler reports that the committee has sent information to 52 high schools in Washington, Idaho and Oregon. About 50 students have already applied for scholarships, Mrs. Stappler said. There is $10,800 available in the form of leadership and plastic grants, 52 community scholarships totaling approximately $9,000 and 70 work scholarships that total $12,600.

Selma Story

Civil rights voter registrations workers for the University of Washington will discuss their project in Selma, Alabama, and show films of their work Tuesday in I-2 at 2:30 p.m. The CBC Young Democrats will sponsor their program.

Volkov To Lecture In CBC Gym March 29

LEON VOLKOV

Leon Volkov, top Soviet affairs expert for Newsweek magazine, will address the Student Body of Columbia Basin College March 29, in the CBC gymnasium. The subject of his lecture will be "The Intellectual Ferment Behind the Iron Curtain."

Volkov, Russian-born, has been in this country since the latter part of World War II. William L. White's popular book, "Land of Milk and Honey" relates the story of Volkov's escape from the Russian Air Force.

Volkov became an American citizen in September, 1954, when Congress passed a bill legalizing his entry into the United States. After coming to this country, Volkov married the former Galina Tzetcova, a professional actress. They now live in Bethesda, Maryland, with their three children.

VOLKOV HAS written many articles and exclusive reports for "The Reader's Digest," "Look," "True," "Pageant," "Commentary," and the British literary magazine, "Encounter."

Volkov has regular meetings with diplomats and officials dealing with Soviet affairs. He also covers all US-USSR cultural exchange events, meeting performing artists, writers and scientists traveling under the program. He follows Soviet dignitaries on their United States tours, and traveled with Krushchev on his trip around the country in 1959.

Volkov served in the Red Air Force during World War II, ending the war as a Lt. Colonel. In August of 1945, while assigned to a Soviet military mission in Germany, Volkov parachuted to safety in the French zone.

HE IMMEDIATELY requested asylum with the Americans, and the French authorities told the Russians that all of the plane's occupants had been killed.

Besides his work in journalism, he has written several plays. Two of his plays were produced on Moscow's professional stage before the war, and since coming to this country, he has had three plays produced off-Broadway with subsequent productions at Harvard University, in England and in Denmark.

The Tri-City Nuclear Industrial Council has joined Columbia Basin College as co-sponsor of the symposium, "Peace and the Atomic Age."

At a regular meeting Tuesday night, the Council voted to advance $1,000 to the college to pay part of the expenses of the symposium, scheduled for April 20 through 23 on campus.

"This is a significant vote of confidence from one of the state's leading organizations," Dr. Donald T. Rippey, president of CBC, said this morning.

"THE TRI-CITY Nuclear Council has helped lead the diversification of the Hanford Atomic Energy Works and is greatly responsible for the advancement of nuclear industries in this state. The college feels honored that it can list such an organization as co-sponsor of its symposium."

R. F. Philip, president of the council, has agreed to be one of the symposium participants, John de Longe, symposium chairman, said today.

He said that Philip—and perhaps other council officers—will take part in one of the

Symposium Speakers

The Symposium Committee has announced a list of seven more persons who will take part in the symposium, "Peace in the Atomic Age."

The list includes R. F. Philip, president of the Tri-City Nuclear Industrial Council; Dr. A. L. Babb, director of the University of Washington's Nuclear Reactor Laboratory, and Donald Koch, Washington State Director of Nuclear and Industrial Development.

Also on the list are Dave Williams, attorney for the Hanford Atomic Metal Trades Council; State Senator Mike McCormack, and State Representatives Doris Johnson and Dan Jolly.

Plans April Open House

An open house of all departments in the vocational-technical division will be held here April 23 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. there will be talks, lectures, exhibits and student projects. The shops and laboratories will be on display to the public. Students and instructors will give information concerning their departments.

symposium's panel discussions.

AMONG main speakers during the campus-wide meeting will be Dr. Arthur Flemming, president of the University of Oregon and former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare under President Eisenhower.

Classes will meet regularly during symposium week except at times when speeches, papers or panels are scheduled, according to de Yonge.

During regular class meetings, discussion will turn on the relation of the subject matter to the symposium topic and to questions and problems brought up at symposium discussions.

THE ANNUAL open house of the Vocational-Technical Division is scheduled for the symposium week, de Yonge said. The symposium schedule also includes the dedication of the Instructional Building, the opening of an invitational show of works by Northwest artists, and other art events.

"We hope to get every student and every faculty member involved in the symposium," Dr. Rippey said.

"The whole idea is to explore the problems and questions inherent in the theme—to stimulate ourselves and to stimulate the community into thinking about what kind of a society we will have in 1975 and 1985."

Spring Enrollment Totals 1170

There are 1170 students enrolled for spring quarter day classes according to Nobel H. Moodhe, CBC registrar. Moodhe said that 75 to 100 additional students are expected to enroll before the March 22nd deadline that will bring the total to 1250 to 1300 day students.

George Askergaard, director of extended day classes, said enrollment in night classes was expected to total around 900.

Moodhe said that there were about 1400 days students enrolled for Winter Quarter before Christmas and about 1500 registered for Fall Quarter on Sept. 20, 1964.

THERE WERE 1100 enrolled in night classes during Winter Quarter and about 1050 during Fall Quarter.

"The reduction before Spring Quarter is a normal drop that the school has experienced over the years," said Moodhe.

Vote For Special Levy

Students are lucky in that they can broaden their concepts in every phase of their lives. Good citizenship training is always directly or indirectly included in a well-rounded education.

Students also develop some kind of feeling or attitude about the schools they attend. When this feeling is positive, it takes the form of school-spirit.

The CBC Associated Student Body Council has helped to provide an opportunity for a special group of CBC students to combine good citizenship and school spirit.

A GOOD CITIZEN wants his community to develop all its resources to their fullest extent. He wants his community to continually progress, and contributes to this end. A student with school spirit works toward the same goals within his school.

Since CBC is a community college the student body necessarily represents a sampling of the community. Therefore, many CBC students are voting age.

The CBC Student Council recently purchased plans and blueprints of proposed improvements for the Edgar Brown Memorial Stadium in Pasco. The plans cost $1500. Other organizations have also joined in the project, but most of the money must come from the City of Pasco, through a special levy. The special levy election will be March 25.

A MODERN, adequately equipped stadium would be a real asset to CBC, other schools in the district and to the city itself. Kennewick now has the new Lion's Den stadium; Richland has the new 5,000 seating capacity gymnasium, and Pasco has an outdated stadium, with no built-in facilities for those who use it.

The present Brown Memorial Stadium doesn't even have rest-rooms. During the halftime at football games, the teams must board buses and leave the stadium to take care of their needs. At CBC football games, many CBC fans must sit on the opposing side, because the seating facilities are inadequate.

Civic organizations that use the stadium are also faced with this lack of facilities. But this problem may be easily rectified.

FOR JUST A few cents more on the tax dollar, Brown Memorial Stadium can be transformed into the pride of Pasco. The stadium can be repaired, and many new conveniences added. Public property kept in good condition is always an asset to any city's development; and since CBC uses the stadium regularly, it will be benefited.

The Collegiate urges all eligible CBC students to vote in favor of the levy. However, The Collegiate reminds eligible voters that the very act of voting is just as important, if not more important, than the issue.

Students Earn Parts In Light Opera

The Richland Light Opera Company's production of "Dam Yankees" will feature four CBC students.

Appearing in the role of Meg Boyd in the production will be Iris Ufkes. Other cast members from CBC are Donna Willis, Marilyn Thorp, and Ken Hann.

The production will be presented March 26, 27, 29 and 30 at the Chief Joseph Auditorium in Richland.

Legislature Considers Junior College Bills

Several bills are pending in the state legislature concerning junior colleges.

Dr. Donald T. Rippey, president of Columbia Basin College, commented on a few of the bills that are under discussion in the legislature.

Dr. Rippey said a bill currently being discussed in the house concerns creating a separate board of directors for the junior colleges so the president of the college would report directly to this board rather than the school superintendent of the elementary and high schools.

THIS BILL, House Bill 104, has been through the House of Representatives. The Senate amended it and sent it back to the House where it is now being reconsidered.

Dr. Rippey said a bill to allow community colleges to have supervisory control over student housing is presently being considered.

The most important bill in the legislation is the Bruno

Budget Bill providing funds to support community colleges and elementary and high schools, Dr. Rippey said. This bill comes up before the legislature every session. The big problem is whether the legislature will increase the present allocation, decrease it, or let the amount remain as is.

This bill is named for present State Superintendent of Schools, Louis Bruno.

Ex-Students Active Since Graduation

Bob Lorence of Umatilla, has been awarded a $2,500 grant for research work in chemistry at the New York State University College for Teachers at Buffalo, New York.

Robert L. Carr of Pasco has also received a research assistantship. He is doing research in genetics at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Instructors Earn Parts With Players

Two CBC language instructors, George Slanger and Fred Dixon, are now rejoining with the Richland Players for their forthcoming production of "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof."

Dixon is playing the leading role of Brick in the Tennessee Williams play and Slanger is appearing in the supporting role of Brick's brother, Gabe.

Dixon is familiar to Tri-City audiences through the many parts he has taken in area productions. Most recently he played the leading role in the Richland Players production of "No Time for Sergeants."

THIS IS Slanger's first part in community theater. A faculty member, Slanger comes to CBC from San Francisco State College where he taught and attended school. He appeared in San Francisco College's production of "Of A Salesman."

ASB Offers New Film

"Annie Get Your Gun," an American musical-comedy, is the next movie in the CBC film series. The film will be shown on March 25 at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. in I-2.

"Annie Get Your Gun," is one of the finest Hollywood musicals. The Technicolor film stars Betty Hutton as Annie Oakley and Howard Keel as Wild Bill Hickok. Music for the film was written by Irving Berlin, and includes such well known songs as, "There's No Business Like Show Business," "The Girl That I Marry," and "Doin' What Comes Natchlerly."

Admission to the showings of the CBC Film Series is free to all students and faculty members.

HAWKS PLAY WINNERS, TAKE ALL

Coach Howard Gives Views

The Columbia Basin College wrestlers placed second in the Junior College Wrestling tournament by earning one first place, four second places and one fourth place. The Hawks had 53 total points, shared to Moses Lake, who first with 60 points.

"I think we reached our peak in the tourney," coach John Howard said. "We surprised a lot of teams with the showing the kids made," Howard said. "We felt Big Bend would be the toughest competition, and I think they were a little worried about us.

"We will certainly miss the boys who won't return next year. (Gary Hackney and Dick Choate). But we feel that those who will return form a strong nucleus for a good team.

Those who placed in the tournament were, Rob Norton, second place; Gary Hackney, second place; Oliver Dangerfield, first place; Harold Surplus, second place; Bill Harr, second place; and Dennis Kiley, fourth place.

The wrestlers recently awarded Coach Howard a pen set mounted on a marble plaque. The engraving on the plaque says: "To Coach John Howard — the best — from the 1964-65 squad."

Art Classes Display Paintings

Art works by advanced Columbia Basin College art students are on display in the ASB lounge.

The works are mostly oil paintings, but there are also two watercolors and two pieces of sculpture in the exhibit.

Arthur Koch, CBC art instructor, said that the exhibit will be up for two more weeks.

Koch said that the lounge will be used regularly for art shows. He will invite the University of Washington to display works during the spring symposium.

Baseball Team Has Problems

A team with only six returning lettermen and a young pitching staff are two of the problems Coach Wally Brown faces with his 1965 baseball team.

To better prepare the team, Brown has scheduled 13 non-conference games before they enter conference play.

Brown said that it is really too early to say anything definite about either the team or the individual players.

The Hawks begin their season tomorrow by playing the University of Idaho varsity team at Sanders Field in Kennewick. Game time is 1:30. This will be a doubleheader. This is the first time in the history of CBC athletics that the CBC baseball team will be playing a varsity team from a four-year school.

Girl Cagers To Meet Moses Lake

During the winter quarter, a women's basketball team was organized by Barbara Cook, physical education instructor at CBC. They participated in league competition between both junior colleges and four year schools.

The team competed in league play during February with Washington State University, Washington State College, and Whitworth teams. March 5 and 6, the team participated in a special Sports Day at Ellensburg. There the team played against Central Washington State College, Clark College and Eastern Washington State College.

This coming weekend the team will travel to Moses Lake to conclude its season. The team will play Wenatchee and Big Bend, at Moses Lake.

The team members include Karen Johnson, captain; Carol Bair; Bonnie Gage; Peggy Merk; Judy Van Blaricom; Lorena Galbraith; Linda Baird; Sharon French; Eva Thomas; Thelma Tebeck, and Kay Cummings.

So far the team has lost every game.

"The World of Carl Sandburg," an evening of poetry readings and dramatic monologues, interspersed with American folk-songs, is the next offering of the CBC Drama Department.

The play, under the direction of Fred C. Dixon, language arts instructor, will be presented March 26 and 27 at 8:15 p.m. in the student lounge.

In the cast are faculty members Dixon, George Kunz and Dan Sarton. Student cast members are Janice Schauss, Wayne Cleary and J. Dale Long. Supplying the folk songs and guitar music are students Greg Reed and Allen Johnson.

"THE WORLD of Carl Sandburg" draws upon all of the writings of the American poet from his "Chicago Poems" to his Lincoln biography.

Songs included in the presentation are from Sandburg's collection "The American Songbag."

"The World of Carl Sandburg" was first presented in New York in 1961 with a cast that included Bette Davis and Gary Merrill. The reviewer of the New York Times said that the play was "playful and serious, childlike and wise, commonplace and fresh, homespun and poetic, distinctively American and daringly boundless."

Track Team Has Three Returning Lettermen

CBC has an almost completely new track team, with only three returning lettermen, according to Coach Dwight Pool.

The returning lettermen are quarter-miler Steve Clark, discus man Dave Anderson, and javelin hurler Dave Whitmire.

Despite the comparatively small 20-man turnout, Pool says the team looks fairly strong.

"WE HAVE some very strong distance men," Pool said.

"Carl Kinion, Larry Maulden, Larry Richwine, and Kevin Brown look real good. They ran last fall in cross-country."

Pool also mentioned that Steve Clark looks good in the 440.

In the field events, Pool mentioned that Dennis Cavin, state prep champion, was looking exceptionally good in the pole vault.

"He cleared 13 feet in practice," Pool said.

OTHER standouts include Bill McKane, who placed second in prep state meet in the shot put, Ron East, Oregon state champion in the javelin throw, and Dave Whitmire, who placed third in last year's college state meet.

Other members and are:

100-yard dash: Mike Otis Thomas

220-yard dash: Bern Thomas

440-yard dash: Steve Kevin Brown

880-yard dash: Brown West

Mile Run: Larry

Two-Mile run: Carl Jerry Pitts, Glen

Discus: Ray Biggs Dave Anderson

Javelin: Dave Whitmire East, Bob Lake, G Stecker

Broad Jump: Bernard Geiger

Triple Jump: Geiger Brand

High Jump: Geiger

Pole Vault: Dennis

Low Hurdles: Larkin West

Places on the mile and mile relay teams are be decided.

The track team opens son at Pullman on at the Washington State Meet.

CBC To Send Delegation To CCUN Conference

The Collegiate Council on the United Nations will attend a conference at Montclair College in California April 1 to 7.

Those attending from Columbia Basin College are John Kinsey, general chairman; Wally Peterson, Dean Heiling, Rick Givan, Alexandra Monopolopolous, Rita Johnson and Beth Thompson.

Givan and Miss Johnson will serve on a committee dealing with peace-keeping operations. Miss Thompson and Miss Monopolopolous will be a committee dealing with international race problems. Peterson and Kinsey will be on the world court.

The Council has been studying Argentina's stand in the United Nations. The CCUN members will propose their own ideas for solving world problems. The conference modeled directly after United Nations.

KINSEY SAID the model UN at Moscow was very educational. The main problem we're face at Montclair is anything from coming vote. If it does, the States will challenge denials of any country in payments of peace operations. This will whether Article 19 of charter will be upheld ed."

Article 19 says that does not keep share of the UN dues vote in the general
